

Successful Service Learning

Service learning [sur-vis lur-ning]

noun

Experiential education that combines classroom instruction with organized service to the community, emphasizing civic engagement, reflection, and application of learning. See also interesting, exciting, social change, professional development, theory to practice.

Successful Service Learning

Service learning [sur-vis lur-ning]

noun

Experiential education that combines classroom instruction with organized service to the community, emphasizing civic engagement, reflection, and application of learning. See also interesting, exciting, social change, professional development, theory to practice.

Remember to record your hours each semester through the ServScript Program.

Center for Leadership and Social Change
100 S Woodward Ave
thecenter.fsu.edu
(850) 644-3342

Follow these guidelines in order to make the most of your experience and be most useful at your agency:

- Research the agency before calling.
- You represent ALL Florida State students.
- Have a meeting with your service supervisor and share a copy of your syllabus and any learning goals.
- Check with your agency to find out what attire is appropriate.
- Call your agency if you aren't able to serve when they are expecting you.
- Begin your hours as soon as possible and space them out throughout the semester.
- Give your agency notice when the end of your service is approaching and say goodbye.
- Practice good cell phone etiquette.
- Reflect on the experience.

Remember to record your hours each semester through the ServScript Program.

Center for Leadership and Social Change
100 S Woodward Ave
thecenter.fsu.edu
(850) 644-3342

Follow these guidelines in order to make the most of your experience and be most useful at your agency:

- Research the agency before calling.
- You represent ALL Florida State students.
- Have a meeting with your service supervisor and share a copy of your syllabus and any learning goals.
- Check with your agency to find out what attire is appropriate.
- Call your agency if you aren't able to serve when they are expecting you.
- Give your agency notice when the end of your service is approaching and say goodbye.
- Practice good cell phone etiquette.
- Reflect on the experience.